HSR Forum

The 2010 HSR Forum is on August 10

Make this years Forum truly representative of HSR's

Make sure you're represented

Talk to your HSR's

Lets get organised

The 2010 HSR Forum is scheduled to be held on August 10 at the Burswood Convention center in Perth.

The HSR Forum is held to provide an opportunity for HSR's to discuss the safety concerns of the workers they represent, hear what's happening in other areas of the industry and develop a better awareness of how to deal with the various challenges they experience in their roles.

However historically these Forums have been under represented by HSR's with the majority of attendees made up of employers and industry representatives.

Indeed a significant proportion of rigs haven't been represented at all.

That means a significant proportion of workers in the offshore oil and gas industry have not had an opportunity to be involved in the Forum or had issues raised by your elected HSR's.

Rig workers are encouraged to raise this matter with your elected HSR's to ensure your workplace is represented.

Your employer has an obligation to make sure HSR's from your rig have an opportunity to attend.

The Alliance has received numerous reports from members regarding safety concerns on rigs. This is your opportunity to have your say.

A Union Workplace is a Safer Workplace
