Stevedoring bosses and big business lobbyists are still attempting to bomb the National Stevedoring Code of Practice (NSCOP). The bosses have been busy trying to block key safety provisions. They are doing everything in their power to delay and destroy this code that will make the waterfront safer. They are attacking the hatchman, the jurisdictional coverage of NSCOP as well as calling for the code to be watered down to guidance material. We must continue the fight! United we stand so that no more wharfies die at work – life before profit, families and society before corporate greed.

Back the union's submission for a strong stevedoring safety code (NSCOP).
